

MAREX WELCOMES YOKOGAWA PRESIDENT

“Marex Process Information Management Systems (PIMS) technology and Yokogawa’s global corporate reach have led to a significant increase in our business over the last year,” said Danny Fisher, Marex MD, welcoming Yokogawa’s world president Mr Eiji Mikawa, to the Marex world headquarters in Cowes, Isle of Wight. Marex has been recently acquired by Yokogawa and was one of the few European Yokogawa companies to be visited by Mr Mikawa in his current world tour.

Mr Mikawa was given a comprehensive tour of the Marex facility in Cowes which designs, develops and installs some of the most successful process information management (PIMS) products in the world. PROMACE, and custom applications such as IRIS which is specially designed for the refinery sector, are recognised worldwide as leading software installations. Matched to the Yokogawa global network, the Marex product range is expanding, satisfying the process industry’s need for ever more powerful systems, and ever more user-friendly interfaces.

Danny Fisher added: “The three-pronged Yokogawa business strategy: Enterprise – Technology - Solutions, is a perfect fit with Marex’s international reputation for innovation and business-driven solutions.”

Issued on behalf of Marex Technology Ltd, Marex House, 34 Medina Rd, Cowes, Isle of Wight, PO31 7DA (01983 296011)

Issued by John Ockenden, Hill Murray Rogerson Public Relations, 12-18 Grosvenor Gardens, London SW1W 0DH (0171 730 3999)

PR6002

Mr Eiji Mikawa, President Yokogawa Electric Corporation, with Danny Fisher,
Managing Director of Marex Technology, at Marex world headquarters in Cowes, Isle of Wight, UK.