VigilantPlant™ Van Tours America

Yokogawa Corporation of America, in an effort to deliver its demo room to customer sites, has announced today that it has developed the VigilantPlant Van, aka “VP Van”. A climate-controlled, 18-wheel mobile marketing rig that brings real-time solutions to its customers and prospects, the truck is intended to create one-to-one relationships, increase overall visibility of Yokogawa brand in the industrial automation industry and enhance collaboration between the company and its local marketing bureaus.

“As we move towards our 2010 goal of Global No. 1,” said David Johnson, president and CEO of Yokogawa Corporation of America, “the mobile tour across America will offer customers who have not had the chance an opportunity to see our full line of process automation solutions and services.”

The mobile truck will visit customer plant sites in the fields of refining, petrochemical, power, chemical, and gas processing.
